Oh, hi, this is a share stoppin. Yeah, I lost you. What happened? Oh, nothing. Okay. Is your husband leaving? What? Is your husband leaving? Yeah. Is his name Scott Wilbur? No, that's my five-year-old. What's your husband's name? Ben Tathlet. Ben what? Tathlet. I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I'm not sure. Ben what? Tathlet. T-A-S-L-I-T-V. And what kind of vehicle will he take? What, he's going to take a S-350. What color? It's red. Okay. Is that him yelling in the background? Who is? Is that him yelling in the background? Yeah. Is he leaving or is he staying? Can you talk? Are you going to wait for him? It's your turn. I know. He's a vehicle sitting here. I know I'd my self. It's a deal right now because it's dead. You understand I am few. No, I need to ask. Do you want me to talk to him? Yeah. Why is he sitting like that? He's going to help me. He's going to help me to drive. So what do you want me to tell him? I'm never going to ask him. Do you want me to tell him? I'm never going to ask him. Lila, is that your name? What? Is your name Lila? Lila. Lila. So he's sitting here facing true you down. He's going to be adjusting. We're talking on the other side. Lila, please talk to me. He threw you on the ground and you spitting your face and strained or choked you, right? Okay. All right. Well, something that, you know, he's got to pay the consequences for his actions. If you'd like, I can talk to him until we get there and try and call him down. But if he, it's up to him, whether he leaves or not, it's going to make it, tell him it's going to make it worse if he leaves. Let me talk to him. Lila? Lila? Put him up. Hello. Hi, this is Ben. Hi, this is the Sheriff's Office. I understand. Okay. Now, look, whatever happens, we're obligated to come up there and check it out. I'm obligated to come here and I know what's going to happen. My wife has just called you. I'm going to jail for a very long time. I will not see my kids. She has just undone about everything that could ever have been done. I am going through my, never mind. I don't even know I need to talk to you because I'll be talking to the officer when he gets here. I know what she just did. I know what she just did. I know I'm going to jail for a very long time. This is a big problem. I am blown away. And I guess, then, your officer up here because she just initiated this whole step and I'm screwed. Are you going to stay there? Are you going to leave? Stay here because you're going to take a vehicle. I can drive myself to the jail right now. Well, there are two sides of every story. Yeah, they're sure. I think that it's in your best interest to stay there. However, I need you to stop yelling and calm down and promise me that you'll go sit in another room. And I was standing in a room I've been sitting in and she came in to answer all this stuff that I've just gone through trying to get you picked all this stuff up and you threw it right up in the air. I don't want to do this. I want distance. I want.

I don't want you to confront me. This is not okay. Is there another room that you can go in and wait until the officers get there? Where would you like me to go until the officer gets here? It gets here to take me to jail. Is this room okay? I'll stay in here. Okay, now let me get her in the phone and have her go somewhere else and leave you alone. All right. Here she is. I love you. I love you. I love you. You guys got to stop arguing. The process has begun. I asked him to go to another room or for you to go to another room and separate from each other until the officers get there and we work this out. Can you do that? Can you just not speak with him or fight with him until the officers get there? Okay. I've sent him. I've asked him to go somewhere else and another room in the house and if you can honor that, I'll let the two of you go. But if you're going to continue to fight, I'm going to have to stand the phone with you. So will you promise you'll stand another room until the officers get there? Okay. Do not speak with him. Don't fight with him anymore. I've asked him to do the same thing and we'll be up there and we'll help you guys work this out. Okay. If it gets that again, call me back. All right. We'll be there in a little bit.
